“Cloud Comms Summit US announces its return with a star-studded line up of Gold Sponsors: 2600Hz, Akixi, Dubber, Microsoft and Poly.” – Cavell Group

One of the leading providers of cloud communications market intelligence and principal US peer association are proud to be supported by 2600Hz, Akixi, Dubber, Microsoft and Poly as Gold Sponsors of Cloud Comms Summit US.

ABOUT CLOUD COMMS SUMMIT US 2022

Cavell Group and the Cloud Communications Alliance (CCA) are proud to announce the Gold Sponsors and in-person return of the Cloud Comms Summit US 2022. After 2 years of fast and exceptional change, Cavell and the CCA are bringing the industry back together under one roof. Taking place on October 18-19, the event will feature 2 days of networking, discussions, and insightful sessions alongside the highly requested return of a Gala Dinner.

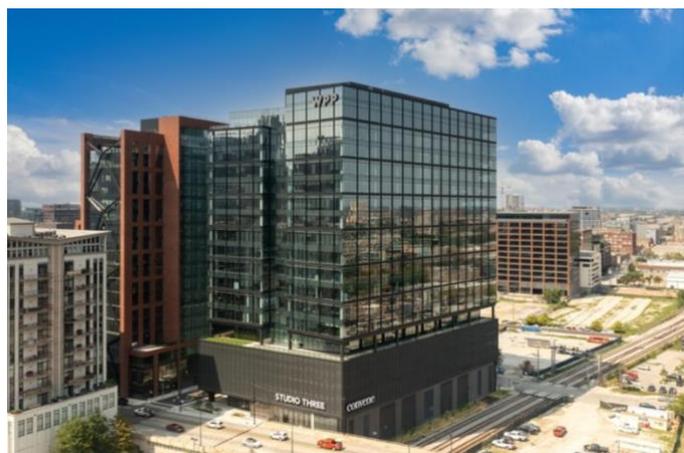

“We are excited to have the support of market leading vendors at Cloud Comms Summit US in October; 2600Hz, Akixi, Dubber, Microsoft and Poly. Cavell believes its Gold Sponsors are key innovators in different areas of the cloud comms space, and that their presence will add real value to those attending the event. With new challenges coming over the horizon, there has never been such an important time to meet your peers and address your strategy.”

Matthew Townend – Executive Director, Cavell Group

Service providers, resellers, and vendors alike can expect ample networking time with the industry between sessions in the main track and breakout rooms. It will be a great opportunity for all within the cloud communications ecosystem to learn about the key industry developments, what the future holds long-term and will give the audience time to reflect on what has happened in the industry throughout the year. The event will facilitate a truly beneficial experience, enabling the industry to challenge and evolve their strategy moving forward.

Location for Cloud Comms Summit US 2022: Fulton Market District of Chicago, Illinois

Venue for Cloud Comms Summit US 2022: Convene at 333 North Green, Chicago, Illinois

Cavell and the CCA will jointly host Cloud Comms Summit US 2022 (CCSUS22) in the venue nestled in the former warehouse district of Fulton Market in downtown Chicago, Convene at 333 North Green Street. Fulton Market is a district on the Near West Side of Chicago. Throughout the last 20 years the area has been developed with corporate headquarters to the tech industry, hotels, bars, restaurants, and retail. This area was also granted Landmark District status by the City of Chicago in 2015.

Each Gold Sponsor of CCSUS22 will be delivering an Industry Vision Session on the second day of the event. Between all 5 sponsors, their sessions will stretch across a breadth of topics to bring new ideas to all delegates' strategies.
